Pulse's COVID Safety Committee, comprising staff, teaching artists, and Board members in healthcare professions, have recommended these schedule changes, as well as some updates regarding Pulse's COVID safety protocols:

*According to the latest recommendations regarding the Omicron variant, we are asking all students to wear either a surgical-grade or N95 mask, and not wear a cloth mask while in the studios. Pulse will have a limited supply of surgical-grade and N95 mask masks available for students who are not able to acquire one.

*We are reinforcing 3 feet of social distance in the studios for students and teachers, whenever possible.
